

Basic Detail Report

The derelict Ospedale di Santo Spirito in

Sassia, Rome

Date

1969-1979

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

The derelict Ospedale di Santo Spirito in Sassia, Rome. Santo Spirito is a 7th century hospital built by the King of Wessex to house Saxon pilgrims to Rome. Now used for conferences, fashion shows, and art exhibitions.

Dimensions

Overall: 20.6 x 25.7 cm (8 1/8 x 10 1/8 in.)