

Nelo Risi walks on the set of his film 'Ondata

di calore'

Date

1970-1970

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

Nelo Risi was an Italian poet, film director, translator and screenwriter, brother of cinematographer Fernando Risi and director Dino Risi. Ondata di calore (internationally released as Dead of Summer) is a 1970 Italian drama film directed by Nelo Risi. It is based on the novel Dead of Summer written by Dana Moseley. The film won the Golden Seashell at the San Sebastián International Film Festival.

Dimensions

Overall: 30.1 x 24.1 cm (11 7/8 x 9 4/8 in.)