

Basic Detail Report

---

A former employee of the Tom Ponzi investigative agency, Mr. Snider, after being questioned by Judge Sica.

Date

1969-1979

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

Tom Ponzi (1921-1997) was an Italian private investigator who worked for high-ranking industrial families. In the early 1970s he was accused of illegally wiretapping members of the Montedison company, as well as important politicians. A long legal process began, but Ponzi escaped to Nice, where he remained for six years. When he returned to Italy he was acquitted.

Dimensions

Overall: 24.2 x 18.9 cm (9 4/8 x 7 3/8 in.)