

Basic Detail Report

People attend a demonstration holding up placards with the names of Nazi concentration camps: 'Mauthausen' and 'Neuengamme'

Date

1969-1979

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

The Neuengamme concentration camp, was a German concentration camp, established in 1938 by the SS near the village of Neuengamme in the Bergedorf district of Hamburg, Germany. Mauthausen-Gusen concentration camp was the hub of a large group of German concentration camps that was built around the villages of Mauthausen and Sankt Georgen an der Gusen (Gusen) in Upper Austria, roughly 20 kilometres (12 mi) east of the city of Linz.

Dimensions

Overall: 21.3 x 30.4 cm (8 3/8 x 12 in.)