

Basic Detail Report

---

Florinda Bolkan and Renato Salvatori at a press conference for the film "A Brief Vacation"

Date

1973-1973

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

Renato Salvatori (20 March 1933 – 27 March 1988) was an actor His acting career as a teenager playing juvenile romantic roles. After working with series of major directors, including Luchino Visconti, Roberto Rossellini and Vittorio De Sica, in the 1960s, he developed into one of Italy's strongest characters actors in grim and realistic drama. Florinda Bolkan is a Brazilian actress. A Brief Vacation (Italian: Una breve vacanza) is a 1973 Italian melodrama directed by Vittorio de Sica. The script, written by Cesare Zavattini, was inspired by an Apollinaire adage ("Sickness is the vacation of the poor").

Dimensions

Overall: 30.3 x 21 cm (11 7/8 x 8 2/8 in.)