

Basic Detail Report

Cardinal Marella joins the Angelicum, a pontifical university in Rome

Date

1969-1979

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

Paolo Marella (25 January 1895 – 15 October 1984) was an Italian Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church. He served in the Roman Curia following a career as a delegate of the Holy See, and was elevated to the cardinalate in 1959. The Angelicum, as it is known colloquially, is the Pontifical University of Saint Thomas Aquinas (PUST), is a pontifical university located in Rome, Italy. The Angelicum is directly dependent on the Pope for its status as a pontifical university as outlined in the apostolic constitution Sapientia Christiana, which also clarifies the parameters of Church authority and academic freedom. The Angelicum is administered by the Catholic Order of Preachers, also known as the Dominican Order, and is the central locus of the authentic Dominican Thomist theological and philosophical tradition.

Dimensions

Overall: 30.1 x 21.2 cm (11 7/8 x 8 3/8 in.)