

Basic Detail Report

---

A scientist working at the Research Centre

in Frascati, near Rome

Date

1969-1979

Medium

gelatin silver print

Description

A scientist working with volatile materials using plastic gloves and a fume cupboard at the Research Centre in Frascati, near Rome The Frascati Research Centre of ENEA is one of the major research centres – at the national and international levels – where R&D activities are focused on nuclear fusion, laser technologies and particle accelerators. The Centre’ s activities also include characterisation and protection of the environment.

Dimensions

Overall: 30.8 x 24.3 cm (12 1/8 x 9 4/8 in.)