Description

Ferdinando "Fred" Buscaglione was an Italian singer and actor who became very popular in the late 1950s. His public persona – the character he played both in his songs and his movies – was of a humorous mobster with a penchant for whisky and women. Cathia Caro is a French actress, particularly active in Italy at the turn of the fifties and sixties. She starred in films with some of the great Italian stars, such as Totò, Peppino De Filippo and Aldo Fabrizi. In 1959 she attempted suicide after a troubled relationship with the boxer Tiberio Mitri
